Scottish Government Digital Health and Care Directorate

Type of organization
Policy maker

Headquarters (country)
Scotland

Maturity Level
In development

Organization description
The Scottish Government's Digital Health and Care Directorate is responsible for the development and implementation of digital technology policies that support the safe and effective delivery of health and care services in Scotland.

Needs of your organization
Information about new technologies in digital health and care; evaluation of technologies; good practice examples of successful at-scale deployment of technologies; technologies that support the delivery of integrated health and social care services.

Interest your organization
To keep abreast of current policy trends and new technology developments in Europe and internationally that will support Scotland's own digital health and care agenda.

Contact
https://tec.scot/
Name: Donna Henderson
Mail: donna.henderson2@nhs.scot